Stylish Carrying Case Corrals Handbag Essentials in Style

Despite their best efforts, most women have had the experience of frantically digging into the bottom of a large purse or handbag for an essential item such as eyeglasses, cellphone, keys, or passport. A separate case to corral these important possessions makes sense, especially if it combines fashion with function.

Being able to protect, carry, and access these items in a reliable, convenient, safe way makes women's lives easier and better, according to the creator of TravelEyez, a unique, stylish accessory that holds not only eyeglasses, but other essentials including phones and keys.

The TravelEyez products are double-sided and designed to zip around the strap or handle of any purse, handbag, or backpack. This stylish accessory is available in black mesh with six different-colored zipper options, as well as black leather and caramel leather for a dressier look, and are sold in sets of two cases that may be zipped together or used separately. The designs are identical regardless of color, so they can mix and match, or stay consistent. "Each TravelEyez case can hold a pair of glasses or car keys, money, credit cards, jewelry or a smart phone. You can zip cases together to connect as many as you need, and attach them to your purse or bag handle to keep your personal items organized and close at hand for easy access," says Yvonne Graber, creator of TravelEyez.

TravelEyez also gives women peace of mind. The case cancels the need to keep valuables such as a phone or keys in a pants or jacket pocket where they might fall out. Some of the most popular uses include:- Travel. Whether you're traveling for business or pleasure, the case provides a secure way to monitor a phone, wallet, credit cards and passport. Try it on a suitcase, travel tote, or carry-on bag.- Shopping. As mundane as it may sound, don't underestimate the value of a handy way to easily access your phone and wallet when shopping, especially for moms toting small children along.- On the go. This is an ideal accessory for students, fitness fanatics, or those on the go. The cases attach easily to bike bars, gym bags, and backpack straps. With the holidays just around the corner, TravelEyez also makes a great gift or stocking stuffer. The patent on the TravelEyez design is pending. For more information, visit traveleyez.com.

Shopping for Life Insurance Now as Easy as Booking a Hotel Room

Talk about annoying.

Here you are, trying to keep your family from being left destitute when you die, and – unlike all those travel websites we're accustomed to – you can't get a simple price quote online for life insurance without first supplying more personal details than you'd be comfortable telling your best friend.

And even if you do (grudgingly) supply the information, somehow you never learn the actual cost until some insurance company salesman calls you back.

And keeps calling you back – perhaps pitching more insurance than you need.

Well, now there's a new website, www.CoverYoo.com, that's getting rave reviews for being – to keep the travel analogy going – “the Kayak.com of Life Insurance,” as one trade journal put it.

Not only does the site let you anonymously comparison shop for different types of life insurance from among hundreds of companies – allowing you to almost instantaneously see, for example, that 10-year term insurance will run you anywhere from $111 to $632 annually – but everything is written in plain English (as opposed to insurance-speak).

“You feel like you've done your homework when you go to CoverYoo,” says Chief Technology Officer Todd Albert. “And once you see the price, it's totally up to you whether you want to talk to an agent or not.”

You also feel like you're getting the straight dope. Case in point: While many in the industry speak in crisis terms about the estimated 39 percent of Americans who lack life insurance, CoverYoo.com says straight out that “odds are that you don't need (it)” if you fall into certain categories (i.e., single and no children).

For those who do need it, though, the site also does a good job of explaining the four basic life insurance policies out there – “Term,” “Term to Age,” “Term ROP (Return of Premium),” and “Universal Life” – and helps you decide which is right for you. Thus, even before you check the prices, you'll know, among other things, that:

- * Term insurance is the least expensive, and a simple rule-of-thumb for choosing among five-year, 10-year, 20-year and 30-year durations is to ensure that your youngest child will be covered to age 22.

- * Declining a medical exam severely limits your options.

- * To figure how much coverage you really need, total all your debts (including mortgages) and 70 percent of your annual expenses for 20 years.

Oh, and here's a fun fact for anyone who doubts the need for CoverYoo: Esurance.com, which some of you may have tried, is actually owned by none other than Allstate.
